With over two hundred and twenty-five persons attending, the 22nd Annual Athletic Banquet met with great success last Monday night, March 28. The Antioch Lions' Club sponsored the event which saw fathers and sons enjoy a well-rounded dinner at the high school at 7 p.m. and then retire to the auditorium for the rest of the program.

After Program Chairman, Larry Ryan had the Reverend Father Hood give the invocation, Toastmaster, William Brook introduced Dr. Albert Bucar who welcomed the guests to the affair.

Richard, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Warsing of 601 Orchard St., returned home from the hospital Tuesday, Mar. 27, and would enjoy receiving word from his classmates at school.

A two-car accident was reported recently by the Lake County Sheriff's office which involved two non-residents near here

Before a recent gathering of his supporters, James A. Olson, 35-year-old candidate for State Representative of the 31st District, stated that "Lake County has the means to support its own school system."

The Antioch Business Men and the High School Faculty completed a brisk two hour workout Tuesday night in preparation for tonight's (Thursday, March 29) action. This evening's spectacle will mark the fourth such benefit game of the series.

The entire program, which will include a game between the freshmen and their fathers and a style show of swim wear by Gibbs and Jenssen, has been shortened considerably this year.

The proceeds from the event will go to the athletic department and will be used for the purchase of a movie camera. The camera will in turn be used by all departments of the high school for filming athletic contests.

The films can then be shown at Grade School, Church and community affairs. The camera can also be used as a teaching device as the student can actually see where he is making an error.

Due to the poor physical condition of some members of the business squad they have been forced to import some outside talent. Representatives of the Business team declined to comment further, except that "the help" will come a great distance at large expense to make an appearance here.

John "Mixer" Blackman has been working out evenings in an effort to get in shape for tonight's game and if he can go the distance should be an asset to the businessmen's cause.

The Antioch High School Board has three incumbent members seeking re-election. Both Ruth Seyfarth and Richard Ripley have served one three-year term apiece. Boyd Osmond has served a partial term of two years, taking the place of Arthur Seekatz of Lake Villa who resigned for business reasons.

Running against these incumbents is Sven Osterlund who has also filed a petition to serve on the board. When asked to comment on his decision, Osterlund stated that his seeking of the office was based upon his past experience with school boards and an intense interest in the operation of the school board. Osterlund has three children presently attending the high school. He has, for the past seven years, served on the Newport Township school board.

The Antioch Township High School Board recently awarded $19,598.89 in contract expenditures at their last board meeting.

Fencing for the athletic field east of the Soo Line tracks was the largest cost involved. $12,412. The Chicago Road Company, operating with Page fencing, was given the contract. A segment basis, determined when needed, was the agreement of installation.

The increased enrollment for next year also caused the school board to purchase a school bus. The Bluebird Bus Co. of Pontiac was given the body contract for $3,185.

The Olson Implement Co., Antioch International Truck dealer, received approval on their chassis bid of $3,374. Of all the bids submitted to the board, for their consideration, these bids were the lowest.

Now, bidder, awarded a contract on the spreading of 11,000 pounds of lime ($43.88) and 14,000 pounds of fertilizer ($593.01) on the new athletic field was the Lake-Cook Farm Supply Co., Grayslake. Still to be let is the contract for seeding of the grounds.

Teachers Resign

The board accepted the resignations of three teachers at the high school. Resigning as physical education teacher was Miss Ruth Grady. She will be replaced by Mrs. Sue Cain.

The resignation of Allen Knurr came after an opportunity of having a full year National Science Foundation scholarship to work for a master's degree in chemistry.

Head football and wrestling coach, Robert Walther, also resigned to accept a similar position in the new Forest View High School of the Arlington Heights school system. Walther also taught science at the high school.

LEGISLATIVE TREASON?

The impending postal hike of a penny-per-copy soon to be considered by our legislative body in Washington poses a great threat to a basic freedom in this country.

If this bill goes into effect, it would definitely cause the folding of newspapers, magazines and miscellaneous publications that are barely holding their own under the present weight of postal demands.

Those publications lingering on after this bill went into regulation would suffer the agony of incessant and increasing financial losses. Everyone, from the home-town newspaper, such as the Antioch News, to the national magazines, such as Harper's, Atlantic Monthly, The Saturday Review, would be crippled by this unfair and intolerant legislative act.

The revenue gleaned by the Post Office Department under this so-called "necessary increase" would cut a wide swath into the net profits of the entire publishing industry. Since this industry, built upon competition and exacting great funds while sustaining its life, is already staggering under recent postal increases, this bill will be a mortal wound to many.

Hundreds of thousands of employees, from printers to editors and reporters, will be affected by the increase.

And the great American reading public will, no doubt, be deprived of several of the most necessary channels of information in the country if this act is allowed to happen.

The most fascinating, dynamic and vital wealth this country cherishes is its freedom of the press. Should the bludgeoning postal increase be put through in Washington, the traditional coffers enclosing this wealth would shrink to an appalling representation. The voices of minorities as well as majorities might be stifled. Literary periodicals, one of the basic necessities for America's unknown writing talent would wither and a thousand Carl Sandbergs would never be heard from. Hometown newspapers, the last vestige of our traditional publishing would dwindle and eventually be swept away, taking with them the voice, the heart, the conscience of the small communities that populate our presently well-informed nation. Special publications in the fields of music, books, art would disappear, our cultural individuality and color fading with them. Jobs for thousands and printed hopes for millions would be gone. A great portion of our speech, thoughts, actions, all stemming from what we read and comprising a way of life, would be uselessly lost.

Postal authorities would find that this increase would harm not help their employees. A mailman with an empty pouch is a courier for unemployment.

With these thoughts in mind we protest against this bureaucratic bill which is no more than the whim of selfish politicians striving to blot their importance, bleed an already hard-pressed field of endeavor and gain a malcontent vote. This bill is a plotted treason against the selectivity and taste of the American people along with being a backhanded cuff in the face of free enterprise.

Your Governor Reports

by OTTO KERNER

By executive order I have created a Governor's Official Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee. The purpose of this committee is to highlight and coordinate the state's highway safety problem so that every available resource will be applied to its solution.

While Illinois has the best highway safety record of any state in the Midwest, every means at our command must be utilized and every effort must be exercised to decrease the number of deaths on our highways.

In beginning its deliberations this committee will have the benefit of an appraisal of traffic safety in Illinois completed by the Northwestern University Traffic Institute. The appraisal provides a professional assessment of highway traffic in Illinois and a guide to where progress can and should be made in decreasing traffic deaths.

Illinois cannot rest on its laurels as a leading state in the control of deaths on its highways. The number of auto registrations in the state increase steadily each year. The miles traveled reflect a greater use of the automobile for business and pleasure. We must be constantly alert that the rate of deaths does not grow with these increases.

Traffic deaths in 1961 totaled 1,801, a four per cent increase over the 1960 total of 1,725. Of these deaths, 636 took place in Illinois cities and 1,165 occurred on rural highways and roads. The economic loss due to traffic accidents, cost motorists of the state an estimated $314 million last year.

It will be the duty of this new committee to coordinate all state agencies to reduce traffic accidents, assign priorities in objectives, provide mutual support and assess accomplishments and failures.

Members of the coordinating committee are: Atty. Gen. William G. Clark; Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter; Supreme Court Justice Harry B. Hershey; Supt. of Public Instruction George T. Wilkins, and the following department directors: Joseph E. Ragen, public safety; W. J. Payes, Jr., public works and buildings; Dr. Franklin D. Yoder, public health; Dr. Francis J. Gerty, mental health, and Ralph S. Bradley, agriculture. Other committee members are Ralph Bartlesmeyer, chief highway engineer, and William H. Morris, state police superintendent. Also appointed to the committee will be a consultant on traffic safety who will act as secretary of the committee, prepare suggested agenda, issue minutes, provide reports and maintain a continuing progress record.

The accident and death rate on Illinois highways must be reduced. The Illinois Traffic Safety Committee will make a great contribution toward this goal.

The sincerity of our Illinois state officials was aptly demonstrated this morning when the Governor's Official Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee met to appraise the state's progress in traffic control and accident prevention.

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter as vice chairman, Lt. Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro, Chief Justice Harry B. Hershey of the Supreme Court, Attorney General William G. Clark, Superintendent of Public Instruction George T. Wilkins, and several directors of the code department were present. We had the opportunity of reviewing the status of our highway safety program in terms of progress made and obvious gaps that must be filled so that all who walk and drive on the streets and roadways in Illinois can do so in comparative safety.

To carry out the assignments of the Governor's Coordinating Committee, we have enlisted the services of Frank Davis as Traffic Safety Consultant to the state and secretary of the committee. Mr. Davlin served on the staff of National Safety Council for many years and was assigned to the staff of the President's Committee on Highway Safety. He attended St. Mary's College (Ky.) and resides at 7419 S. Euclid Ave., Chicago.

The net results of these efforts by myself and the other state elected officials and directors of various departments charged with the responsibilities in the field of highway safety is a more effective program of mutual cooperation with a resulting elimination of duplication of efforts. The results should prove economical in terms of cost of programs to the taxpayers and yet provide more effective controls over the minority who are making our streets and highways hazardous.

It is a sad commentary on our times, that our most convenient and widely-used means of transportation—the motor vehicle—is the most dangerous. By coordinating the efforts of all officials who are concerned with the safety of our people, we hope that Illinois can make a notable reduction in the rate of accidents and deaths on our highways.

The American Experience

By Ray Puschner

Do you know who wrote the musical, "My Fair Lady"? No, I mean the first one. George Gershwin, composer of "Rhapsody in Blue," "American in Paris," "Concerto in F," "Porgy and Bess," "Second Rhapsody," "Cuban Overture," musical comedies such as "O. Kay!" and "Of Thee I Sing," and hundreds of popular songs.

George, it sometimes may be said, had too much talent—or as he would have said, genius. As he said to Oscar Levant once while the two were traveling across country on a train—"That's the difference between talent and genius—upper berth and lower berth." Along with his genius went an enormous ego. Nothing pleased Gershwin more than playing his own compositions for anyone that would listen. In fact the only way you could prevent him from playing at a party would be to shackle him to his seat. This egomaniacal strain prompted Oscar Levant's famous bon mot: "George, if you had to do it all over, would you fall in love with yourself again?"

As a classical composer Gershwin took his work quite seriously. For example, when "Rhapsody in Blue" was first performed in 1925 by Paul Kletzner, Gershwin had not had a great deal of formal training in music—i.e., harmony, counterpoint, orchestration, etc. (Rhapsody in Blue), you may remember, was originally orchestrated by Ferde Grofe, composer of "Grand Canyon Suite.") All the while Gershwin wrote the musicals and songs in the popular vein he studied.

Gershwin once tried to persuade Maurice ("Bohemia") Ravel to take him as a student. However, after hearing Gershwin's music Ravel said that there was nothing he could teach him. In fact, ironically enough, Gershwin influenced Ravel. Distinct Gershwinesque sounds are evident in Ravel's "Piano Concerto," particularly the first movement.

If anyone could be said to be his mentor, it would be the conductor, Walter Damrosch, who continually promoted George's work and urged George to devote more time to classical composition.

His best friend, of course, was the petulant Oscar Levant, whose playing of the "Rhapsody in Blue" and "Concerto in F" are still taken as the definitive performances.

Chief lyricist for the indefatigable song writer was his brother, Ira.

George kept everyone busy. At the same time he wrote both classical and popular music. It might be debated, but George is probably America's foremost classical composer still; not only classical composer of the top rung, but probably also the best song writer this country has seen yet.

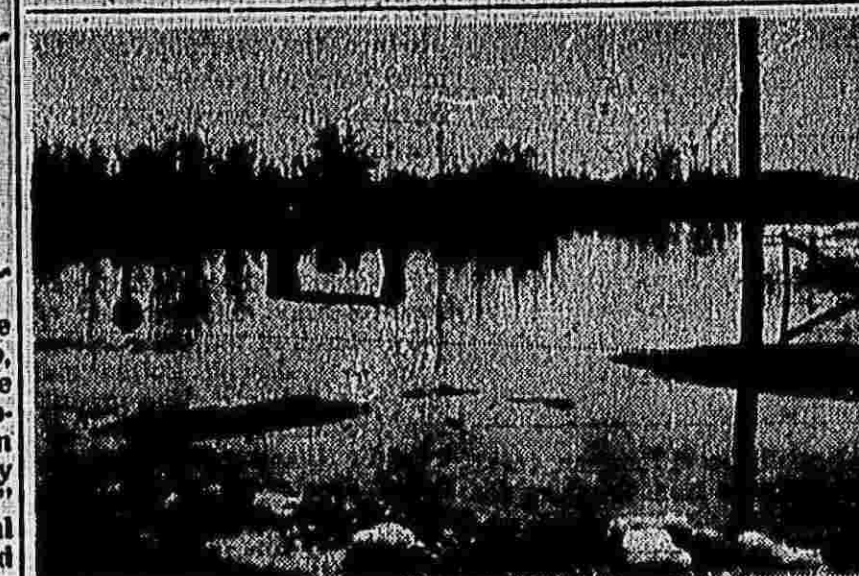

George died in 1937 at the age of 39. One might wonder what "he might have done" had he lived, but that's idle musing. He didn't live, but the body of work he did produce was sufficient to rank him as a titan.

"While fathers and mothers everywhere demand more education for their children, they're reading like mad themselves to keep up with the world."

"Book sales are double 1952's figures in dollars, in spite of competition from all kinds of recreation and other entertainment. 'What we like to hear is that 40 per cent of the people would feel lost without the newspaper, while only 28 per cent would feel that way if the TV broke down. According to the survey that developed these figures, said to be the most comprehensive of its kind ever made, we're doing better than we thought.'—Spring Valley, N. Y. Leader.

Winter Weather Tops Last Year's Records

It's been a cold winter. And most people will agree, especially those who spent the first two months of 1962 in the frigid temperatures of the northern Illinois area.

This statement comes from Northern Illinois Gas Company's weather-conscious gas dispatchers, who make sure that natural gas flows continuously to the utility's more than 750,000 customers.

According to NI-Gas—and verified by official U. S. Weather Bureau records—this January was about 13 per cent colder than the same month in 1961, and February was almost 28 per cent colder than February a year ago. Over all, the weather during the first two months of this year was almost 19 per cent colder than last year.

Chances are the results of this cold weather will show up on heating bills, no matter what type of fuel is used for heating. NI-Gas says its 500,000 customers who use gas for heating probably will notice present bills are higher than comparable bills a year ago.

The utility emphasized that the increase will vary, depending upon heating habits, or whether storm windows were installed in the interim, winter vacations taken, or another room added to the home.

NI-Gas also pointed out that other weather factors—such as wind velocity and direction, sunshine and snow—also affect heating fuel consumption, but temperature still is the major factor.

Dear Sir:

I would like to take exception to several statements printed in your editorial of March 22, regarding the proposed Country-side Hospital.

You intimated in this piece that Antioch has been ignored as far as inviting organizations and members of the community to participate actively in this project.

The Cooperative Women's Organizations, comprised of Women's Clubs, Garden Clubs, Grandmothers Clubs, Veterans Club, Auxiliaries, etc. has repeatedly invited like groups from Antioch to join with us in our work.

—I don't know where you received your information, but may I assure you that one of our main concerns has been getting Antioch "active."

We have been told in the past that they were concerned with local civic interests, such as the swimming pool.

May I at this time, ask you by means of your publication to invite these organizations to join with us? Our next meeting will be held Monday, April 2, 1962, at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Gustav Eckert.

Anyone wishing to attend may call her for directions at 395-2491. If these clubs cannot send a representative to this meeting, they can contact us indicating their interest and we will keep them informed as to our activities.

Courthouse Notebook—

BY LOU DURKIN

The apparent coming of the annual thaw is being greeted with mixed emotions about the county with political candidates heaving a happy sigh and road and highway commissioners turning to strong drink.

Wintry blasts and ice capped roads have kept people at home by the fireside and away from political meetings in large numbers while the candidates have skidded and slithered across the county in search of groups of voters to hear their spiels.

Candidates who have found it profitable in past years to linger on the street corners and train platforms to snare unwary commuters or shoppers have returned to their homes frost-bit, ten, windblown and still clutching their collection of campaign material.

But now all that is changing and as the sun struggles forth to launch a new spring, new life is flowing into the veins of the candidates and new enthusiasm is brightening their campaign talks.

There is nothing like a big audience to start the flow of adrenalin in a campaigner and nothing like row upon row of empty auditorium seats to take the punch out of his campaign remarks.

The past three campaign months have been characterized as "incumbent weather" because veteran officeholders such as State Rep. Robert Coulson and State Sen. Robert McClory, candidates for the GOP nomination for U. S. Representative, and W. J. Murphy, who is seeking reelection as State Representative, have a solid backlog of votes they can count upon.

Candidates making their first appearance on the ballot need every exposure they can get and if they can't find crowds to address they are handicapped, perhaps beyond repair.

It might be well for some of the 16 candidates for state representative among the Democrats and Republicans to start promising legislation to move the primary balloting to early June so that better campaign weather can be anticipated.

I can assure him of at least one vote on such a platform.

While the candidates and the golfers are rejoicing the spring thaws are bringing tears to the eyes of the strong men in charge of patching up the highways.

Some township and county highway officials are saying this is the worst condition the roads have been in for many years and we expect to hear few dissenting voices.

The State Highway Department is also concerned about the condition of its highways and is even faced with the unhappy prospect of finding money to maintain the extensive federal aid inter-state highway network.

The state is finding that the gift of roads from Uncle Sam, who paid 90 per cent of the cost, had some strings attached.

APRIL, 1962 WEATHER FORECAST

It now appears that our previous forecast of precipitation and temperature for the last week of this month is approximately three days behind the actual weather. The cold wave we predicted about the 1st of April will occur about the 29th of March and a warming trend will follow with temperatures rising to well above freezing by April 1st or 2nd. This warm weather will prevail thru the 6th when another cold wave will drop temperatures to below freezing by the 8th or 9th and bring the last killing frost to the South Central and Eastern States by the 12th or 13th. In the Chicago area and North, freezing weather is expected the 15th, and 22nd with the last killing frost around the 27th.

Except for the foregoing cold movements, April temperatures will be well above freezing, reaching 70 to 80 degrees on or about the 18th.

Strong winds and heavy precipitation is expected the 5th, 17th and 26th with possibility of snow and sleet. Otherwise, precipitation for the month will be normal with the usual thunderstorms and scattered showers.

Heavy snow is predicted for the Northern Mountain States April 3rd or 4th and tornadoes in the Southern States about the 6th or 8th. A killing frost extending as far South as Northern Florida is probable April 10th to 12th. Another tornado danger zone will develop in the Southern and Central Plains about April 15th moving into the Southeastern States by the 18th.

May 1st will be greeted by a blast of cold air in the Central and Eastern States. Some snow probable in parts of Southern Wisconsin, Northern Illinois and Indiana May first.

Total Degree Days of Heat Demand accumulated for the period September 1, 1961 through March 28, 1962 are 6524. For the same period one year ago, we had accumulated 5866 Degrees of Heat Demand. This winter now has been 11% colder than last winter and March, 1962 has been 21% colder than March, 1961.

The Northern Illinois Conservation Club was represented by President Richard Waters, Treasurer George (Doc) Jensen, Edward Kugel, member and Public Relations Director Harry H. Stern at the March 19th meeting of the Grass Lake P.T.A. to further their Outdoor Laboratory Program, in which our children in the elementary grades will be initiated into conservation work.

This plan envisages the teaching of conservation within the regular curriculum and then using the school grounds as the laboratory to put into practice what has been learned. The Northern Illinois Conservation Club will underwrite the cost of the program, including the necessary nursery stock.

Mr. Edward C. Cooney, who is Supervisor of Conservation Education for the State of Illinois, spoke to parents and faculty about conservation. Many definitions can be applied to the program. For example, to the farmer it meant control of soil erosion; to the big city dweller, better hunting and fishing, and to residents of rural areas who live adjacent to lakes and streams, water pollution control. He also told how a program like this was evolved successfully in the Bloom Elementary School in Rockford. Mr. Cooney's talk was received enthusiastically and it was agreed that teaching our children conservation was a good idea and long overdue.

Mr. Cooney will meet with the teachers on April 3 to discuss the mechanics of implementing this program within the regular curriculum. Mrs. Golden, Principal, Mrs. Curry, Mrs. Brunner, Mrs. Kufalk, Mrs. Walsh and Miss LaPlant, members of the faculty were present.

This report was forthcoming from Harry H. Stern, Public Relations director of the group.

Total plant in use by the University of Illinois excluding 559,000 square feet leased at Navy Pier, Chicago, is valued at $220,411,955.

Post Office Moves Sun.

Postmaster Roy Kufalk recently announced that permission to move into the new post office building had been granted by the Regional Space Requirements Office in Chicago.

An engineer from the Regional Engineers Office inspected the new building on Orchard and Broadway streets on Wednesday, March 28, and gave his approval of the completed facility.

Kufalk said that the Post Office facilities and equipment will be moved Sunday in order to take on the heavy flow of traffic on Monday, April 2.

No specific plans have been made for the occupancy of the old building located on Lake street, although a Main Street business is expected to fill the vacancy.

Kufalk concluded that all services would be available to customers coming to the new post office building on Monday.

Science Fair is Held Saturday

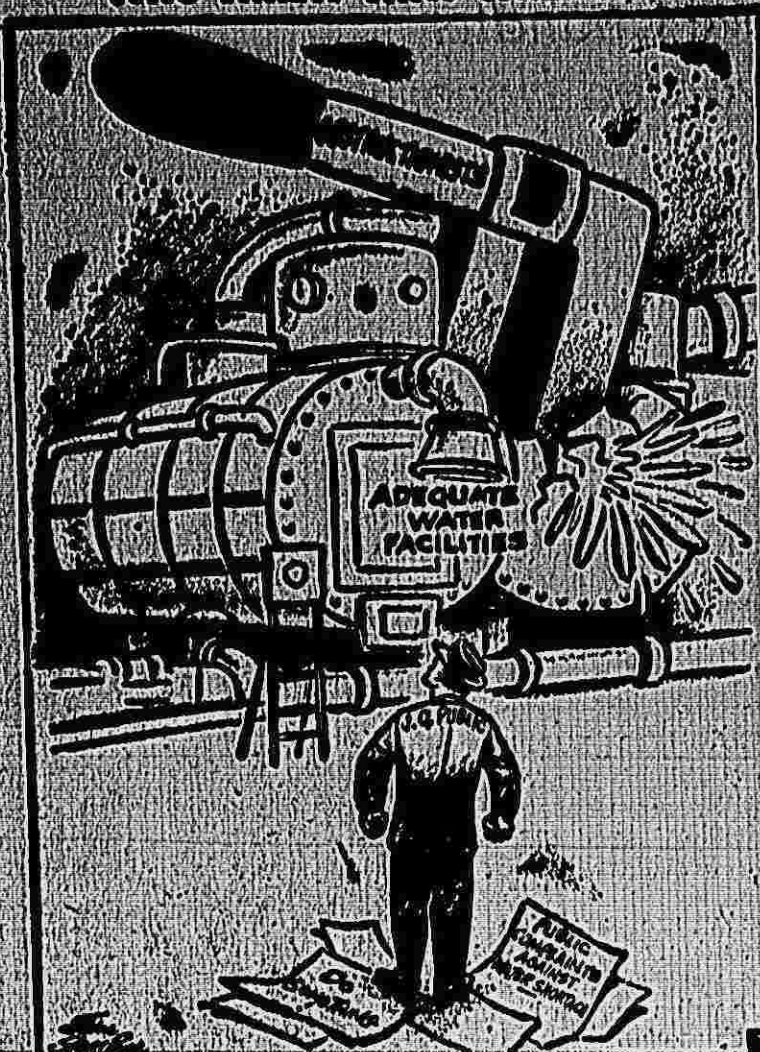

On Saturday, March 31, the Bi-Phy-Chem Scientific Society of Antioch High will present its Third Annual Science Fair. The fair will be held in the boys' gym of the high school. It will be open to the public during the afternoon.

Students will begin setting up their projects at 7 a.m. They will be judged during the morning. Entrants should plan to be with their projects until 4 p.m., when the exhibits will be taken down.

Schools participating in this year's Science Fair are Antioch High School and Antioch, Grass Lake, Oakland and Prince of Peace Grade Schools.

Entries this year total about one hundred twenty-five. They are classified into nine categories: Aeronautics, Anthropology, Astronomy, Botany, Chemistry, Conservation, Geology, Physics and Zoology. The largest classification is Zoology which encompasses about forty projects.

WHO THREW THAT WRENCH?

Conservation, Geology, Physics and Zoology. The largest classification is Zoology which encompasses about forty projects.

Judges for the fair are local science teachers, doctors and businessmen. They are asked to judge the projects on the basis of scientific worth, including educational value, originality, accuracy of information, effective presentation, and difficulty. Judges are also asked to consider the age and experience of the exhibitor and whether or not the project makes use of his abilities.

Preparations for the fair are nearly complete. Each classification area is given a certain color, which is used on all the tables and signs in that area. The members of the club and their sponsor, William Seemann, hope to make the year's fair the best and most colorful ever.

LEGISLATIVE TREASON?

The impending postal hike of a penny-per-copy soon to be considered by our legislative body in Washington poses a great threat to a basic freedom in this country.

If this bill goes into effect, it would definitely cause the folding of newspapers, magazines and miscellaneous publications that are barely holding their own under the present weight of postal demands.

Those publications lingering on after this bill went into regulation would suffer the agony of incessant and increasing financial losses. Everyone, from the home-town newspaper, such as the Antioch News, to the national magazines, such as Harper's, Atlantic Monthly, The Saturday Review, would be crippled by this unfair and intolerant legislative act.

The revenue gleaned by the Post Office Department under this so-called "necessary increase" would cut a wide swath into the net profits of the entire publishing industry. Since this industry, built upon competition and exacting great funds while sustaining its life, is already staggering under recent postal increases, this bill will be a mortal wound to many.

Hundreds of thousands of employees, from printers to editors and reporters, will be affected by the increase.

And the great American reading public will, no doubt, be deprived of several of the most necessary channels of information in the country if this act is allowed to happen.

The most fascinating, dynamic and vital wealth this country cherishes is its freedom of the press. Should the bludgeoning postal increase be put through in Washington, the traditional coffers enclosing this wealth would shrink to an appalling representation. The voices of minorities as well as majorities might be stifled. Literary periodicals, one of the basic necessities for America's unknown writing talent would wither and a thousand Carl Sandbergs would never be heard from. Hometown newspapers, the last vestige of our traditional publishing would dwindle and eventually be swept away, taking with them the voice, the heart, the conscience of the small communities that populate our presently well-informed nation. Special publications in the fields of music, books, art would disappear, our cultural individuality and color fading with them. Jobs for thousands and printed hopes for millions would be gone. A great portion of our speech, thoughts, actions, all stemming from what we read and comprising a way of life, would be uselessly lost.

Postal authorities would find that this increase would harm not help their employees. A mailman with an empty pouch is a courier for unemployment.

With these thoughts in mind we protest against this bureaucratic bill which is no more than the whim of selfish politicians striving to blot their importance, bleed an already hard-pressed field of endeavor and gain a malcontent vote. This bill is a plotted treason against the selectivity and taste of the American people along with being a backhanded cuff in the face of free enterprise.

Courthouse Notebook

BY LOU DURKIN

The apparent coming of the annual thaw is being greeted with mixed emotions about the county with political candidates heaving a happy sigh and road and highway commissioners turning to strong drink.

Wintry blasts and ice capped roads have kept people at home by the fireside and away from political meetings in large numbers while the candidates have skidded and slithered across the county in search of groups of voters to hear their spiels.

Candidates who have found it profitable in past years to linger on the street corners and train platforms to snare unwary commuters or shoppers have returned to their homes frost-bitten, windblown and still clutching their collection of campaign material.

But now all that is changing and as the sun struggles forth to launch a new spring, new life is flowing into the veins of the candidates and new enthusiasm is brightening their campaign talks.

There is nothing like a big audience to start the flow of adrenalin in a campaigner and nothing like row upon row of empty auditorium seats to take the punch out of his campaign remarks.

The past three campaign months have been characterized as "incubent weather" because veteran officeholders such as State Rep. Robert Coulson and State Sen. Robert McClory, candidates for the GOP nomination for U. S. Representative, and W. J. Murphy, who is seeking re-election as State Representative, have a solid backlog of votes they can count upon.

Candidates making their first appearance on the ballot need every exposure they can get and if they can't find crowds to address they are handicapped, perhaps beyond repair.

It might be well for some of the 16 candidates for state representative among the Democrats and Republicans to start promising legislation to move the primary balloting to early June so that better campaign weather can be anticipated.

I can assure him of at least one vote on such a platform.

While the candidates and the golfers are rejoicing the spring thaws are bringing tears to the eyes of the strong men in charge of patching up the highways.

Some township and county highway officials are saying this is the worst condition the roads have been in for many years and we expect to hear few dissenting voices.

The State Highway Department is also concerned about the condition of its highways and is even faced with the unhappy prospect of finding money to maintain the extensive federal aid inter-state highway network.

The state is finding that the gift of roads from Uncle Sam, who paid 90 per cent of the cost, had some strings attached.

Your Governor Reports

by OTTO KERNER

By executive order I have created a Governor's Official Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee. The purpose of this committee is to highlight and coordinate the state's highway safety problem so that every available resource will be applied to its solution.

While Illinois has the best highway safety record of any state in the Midwest, every means at our command must be utilized and every effort must be exercised to decrease the number of deaths on our highways.

In beginning its deliberations this committee will have the benefit of an appraisal of traffic safety in Illinois completed by the Northwestern University Traffic Institute. The appraisal provides a professional assessment of highway traffic in Illinois and a guide to where progress can and should be made in decreasing traffic deaths.

Illinois cannot rest on its laurels as a leading state in the control of deaths on its highways. The number of auto registrations in the state increase steadily each year. The miles traveled reflect a greater use of the automobile for business and pleasure. We must be constantly alert that the rate of deaths does not grow with these increases.

Traffic deaths in 1961 totaled 1,801, a four per cent increase over the 1960 total of 1,725. Of these deaths, 636 took place in Illinois cities and 1,165 occurred on rural highways and roads. The economic loss due to traffic accidents cost motorists of the state an estimated $314 million last year.

It will be the duty of this new committee to coordinate all state agencies to reduce traffic accidents, assign priorities in objectives, provide mutual support and assess accomplishments and failures.

Members of the coordinating committee are: Atty Gen. William G. Clark; Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter; Supreme Court Justice Harry B. Hershey; Supt. of Public Instruction George T. Wilkins; and the following department directors: Joseph E. Ragen, public safety; W. J. Payes, Jr., public works and buildings; Dr. Franklin D. Yoder, public health; Dr. Francis J. Gerty, mental health, and Ralph S. Bradley, agriculture. Other committee members are: Ralph Bartlesmeyer, chief highway engineer, and William H. Morris, state police superintendent. Also appointed to the committee will be a consultant on traffic safety who will act as secretary of the committee, prepare suggested agenda, issue minutes, provide reports and maintain a continuing progress record.

The accident and death rate on Illinois highways must be reduced. The Illinois Traffic Safety Committee will make a great contribution toward this goal.

The sincerity of our Illinois state officials was aptly demonstrated this morning when the Governor's Official Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee met to appraise the state's progress in traffic control and accident prevention.

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter as vice chairman, Lt. Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro, Chief Justice Harry B. Hershey of the Supreme Court, Attorney General William G. Clark, Superintendent of Public Instruction George T. Wilkins, and several directors of the code departments were present. We had the opportunity of reviewing the status of our highway safety program in terms of progress made and obvious gaps that must be filled so that all who walk and drive on the streets and roadways in Illinois can do so in comparative safety.

To carry out the assignments of the Governor's Coordinating Committee, we have enlisted the services of Frank Davin as Traffic Safety Consultant to the state and secretary of the committee. Mr. Davin served on the staff of National Safety Council for many years and was assigned to the staff of the President's Committee on Highway Safety. He attended St. Mary's College (Ky.) and resides at 7419 S. Euclid Ave., Chicago.

The net results of these efforts by myself and the other state elected officials and directors of various departments charged with the responsibilities in the field of highway safety is a more effective program of mutual cooperation with a resulting elimination of duplicating efforts. The results should prove economical in terms of cost of programs to the taxpayers and yet provide more effective live controls over the minority who are making our streets and highways hazardous.

It is a sad commentary on our times that our most convenient and widely-used means of transportation—the motor vehicle—is the most dangerous. By coordinating the efforts of all officials who are concerned with the safety of our people, we hope that Illinois can make a notable reduction in the rate of accidents and deaths on our highways.

The American Experience

By Ray Puchner

Do you know who wrote the musical, "My Fair Lady"? No, I mean the first one. George Gershwin, composer of "Rhapsody in Blue," "American in Paris," "Concerto in F," "Porgy and Bess," "Second Rhapsody," "Cuban Overture," musical comedies such as "O. Kay!" and "Of Thee I Sing," and hundreds of popular songs.

George, it sometimes may be said, had too much talent—or as he would have said genius. As he said to Oscar Levant once while the two were traveling across country on a train—"That's the difference between talent and genius—upper berth and lower berth." Along with his genius went an enormous ego. Nothing pleased Gershwin more than playing his own compositions for anyone that would listen. In fact the only way you could prevent him from playing at a party would be to shackle him to his seat. This egomaniacal strain prompted Oscar Levant's famous bon mot: "George, if you had to do it all over, would you fall in love with yourself again?"

As a classical composer Gershwin took his work quite seriously. For example, when "Rhapsody in Blue" was first performed in 1925 by Paul Kiteman, Gershwin had not had a great deal of formal training in music—i.e., harmony, counterpoint, orchestration, etc. (Rhapsody in Blue), you may remember, was originally orchestrated by Ferde Grofe, composer of "Grand Canyon Suite.") All the while Gershwin wrote the musicals and songs in the popular vein he studied.

Gershwin once tried to persuade Maurice ("Bolero") Ravel to take him as a student. However, after hearing Gershwin's music Ravel said that there was nothing he could teach him. In fact, ironically enough, Gershwin influenced Ravel. Distinct Gershwinian sounds are evident in Ravel's "Piano Concerto," particularly the first movement.

If anyone could be said to be his mentor, it would be the conductor, Walter Damrosch, who continually promoted George's work and urged George to devote more time to classical composition.

His best friend, of course, was the petulant Oscar Levant, whose playing of the "Rhapsody in Blue" and "Concerto in F" are still taken as the definitive performances.

Chief lyricist for the indefatigable song writer was his brother, Ira.

George kept everyone busy. At the same time he wrote both classical and popular music. It might be debated, but George is probably America's foremost classical composer still; not only classical composer of the top rung, but probably also the best song writer this country has seen yet.

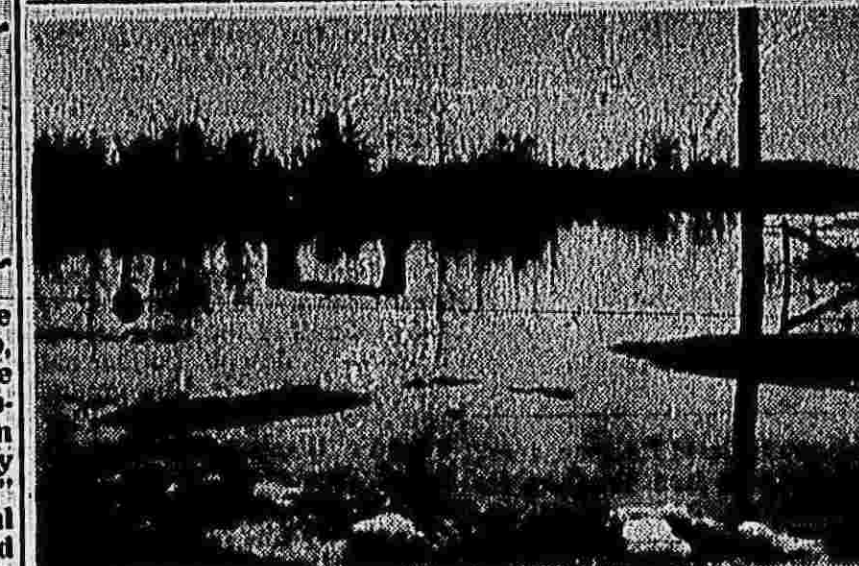

George died in 1937 at the age of 39. One might wonder what "he might have done" had he lived, but that's idle musing. He didn't live, but the body of work he did produce was sufficient to rank him as a titan.

"While fathers and mothers everywhere demand more education for their children, they're reading like mad themselves to keep up with the world."

"Book sales are double 1952's figures in dollars, in spite of competition from all kinds of recreation and other entertainment. What we like to hear is that 49 per cent of the people would feel lost without the newspaper, while only 28 per cent would feel that way if the TV broke down. According to the survey that developed these figures, said to be the most comprehensive of its kind ever made, we're doing better than we thought."—Spring Valley, N. Y., Leader.

Winter Weather Tops Last Year's Records

It's been a cold winter. And most people will agree, especially those who spent the first two months of 1962 in the frigid temperatures of the northern Illinois area.

This statement comes from Northern Illinois Gas Company's weather-conscious gas dispatchers, who make sure that natural gas flows continuously to the utility's more than 750,000 customers.

According to NI-Gas—and verified by official U. S. Weather Bureau records—this January was about 13 per cent colder than the same month in 1961, and February was almost 28 per cent colder than February a year ago. Over all, the weather during the first two months of this year was almost 19 per cent colder than last year.

Chances are the results of this cold weather will show up on heating bills, no matter what type of fuel is used for heating. NI-Gas says its 500,000 customers who use gas for heating probably will notice present bills are higher than comparable bills a year ago.

The utility emphasized that the increase will vary, depending upon heating habits, or whether storm windows were installed in the interim, winter vacations taken, or another room added to the home.

NI-Gas also pointed out that other weather factors—such as wind velocity and direction, sunshine and snow—also affect heating fuel consumption, but temperature still is the major factor.

APRIL, 1962 WEATHER FORECAST

It now appears that our previous forecast of precipitation and temperature for the last week of this month is approximately three days behind the actual weather. The cold wave we predicted about the 1st of April will occur about the 29th of March and a warming trend will follow with temperatures rising to well above freezing by April 1st or 2nd. This warm weather will prevail thru the 6th when another cold wave will drop temperatures to below freezing by the 8th or 9th and bring the last killing frost to the South Central and Eastern States by the 12th or 13th. In the Chicago area and North, freezing weather is expected the 15th and 22nd with the last killing frost around the 27th.

Except for the foregoing cold movements, April temperatures will be well above freezing, reaching 70 to 80 degrees on or about the 18th.

Strong winds and heavy precipitation is expected the 5th, 17th and 26th with possibility of snow and sleet. Otherwise, precipitation for the month will be normal with the usual thunderstorms and scattered showers.

Heavy snow is predicted for the Northern Mountain States April 3rd or 4th and tornadoes in the Southern States about the 6th or 8th. A killing frost extending as far South as Northern Florida is probable April 10th to 12th. Another tornado danger zone will develop in the Southern and Central Plains about April 15th moving into the Southeastern States by the 18th.

May 1st will be greeted by a blast of cold air in the Central and Eastern States. Some snow probable in parts of Southern Wisconsin, Northern Illinois and Indiana May first.

Total Degree Days of Heat Demand accumulated for the period September 1, 1961 through March 28, 1962 are 6526. For the same period one year ago, we had accumulated 5866 Degrees of Heat Demand. This winter now has been 11% colder than last winter and March, 1962 has been 21% colder than March, 1961.

Antioch News

Dear Sir:

I would like to take exception to several statements printed in your editorial of March 22, regarding the proposed Country-side Hospital.

You intimated in this piece that Antioch has been ignored as far as inviting organizations and members of the community to participate actively in this project.

The Cooperative Women's Organizations, comprised of Women's Clubs, Garden Clubs, Grandmothers Clubs, Veterans Club, Auxiliaries, etc. has repeatedly invited like groups from Antioch to join with us in our work.

I don't know where you received your information, but may I assure you that one of our main concerns has been getting Antioch "active."

We have been told in the past that they were concerned with local civic interests, such as the swimming pool.

May I at this time, ask you by means of your publication to invite these organizations to join with us? Our next meeting will be held Monday, April 2, 1962, at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Gustav Eckert.

Anyone wishing to attend may call her for directions at 395-2491. If these clubs cannot send a representative to this meeting, they can contact us indicating their interest and we will keep them informed as to our activities.

Sincerely,

Joyce McCleod

He also told how a program like this was evolved successfully in the Bloom Elementary School in Rockford. Mr. Cooney's talk was received enthusiastically and it was agreed that teaching our children conservation was a good idea and long overdue.

Mr. Cooney will meet with the teachers on April 3 to discuss the mechanics of implementing this program within the regular curriculum. Mrs. Golden, Principal, Mrs. Curry, Mrs. Brunner, Mrs. Kufalk, Mrs. Walsh and Miss LaPlant, members of the faculty were present.

This report was forthcoming from Harry H. Stern, Public Relations director of the group.

istry, Conservation, Geology, Physics and Zoology. The largest classification is Zoology which encompasses about forty projects.

Judges for the fair are local science teachers, doctors and businessmen. They are asked to judge the projects on the basis of scientific worth, including educational value, originality, accuracy of information, effective presentation, and difficulty. Judges are also asked to consider the age and experience of the exhibitor and whether or not the project makes use of his abilities.

Preparations for the fair are nearly complete. Each classification area is given a certain color, which is used on all the tables and signs in that area. The members of the club and their sponsor, William Seemann, hope to make the year's fair the best and most colorful ever.

Antioch's Fire Chief Edger Simonsen

Whenever you hear the siren of a firetruck in the Antioch area you will most likely see this man. Chief Edger Simonsen has been chief of Antioch's Fire Department since 1951. Prior to that position he was assistant chief for six years. Chief Simonsen worked into these positions by becoming an engineer for the department in 1931.

Along with these important posts, Chief Simonsen has also served two terms as a village trustee.

Born in 1910, he was raised in Antioch and has lived here all of his life. He is a graduate of both Antioch Grade and High School.

The only extensive period of time spent away from Antioch for the chief was during the Second World War. He served in the First Army, 559th Heavy Maintenance Tank Division for three and a half years and participated in the Normandy invasion.

He was discharged with the rank of Master Sergeant.

At present Chief Simonsen is also the Supt. of Public Works and is responsible for the maintenance of the streets during the winter. He is also a member of the American Legion.

Chief Simonsen does take time away from his many duties, however, to practice his main hobby, fishing.

Before village work, Chief Simonsen worked as a mechanic for Rentner and Jedele.

While serving in the army, Chief Simonsen attended several schools dealing with mechanics. In civilian life, he has attended the Fire Training School at Great Lakes when Cecil Smith was then in charge of instruction, and the Illinois State Fire College at the University of Illinois in Champaign. Chief Simonsen attended this college six times and is considered exceptionally well-versed in Fire Control.

There are 37 active members presently working in the fire department under the direction of Chief Simonsen. Three more members are serving with the armed forces.

The Fire Department is completely equipped with modern devices such as the highly efficient telephone answering service. All in all, the equipment used by the Department totals $77,000. Every fireman has a monitor set in his home which enables him to be informed on fire calls in the area.

Living here all his life, Chief Simonsen stated that "The biggest change in Antioch was in 1922 when the cement roads went in." He added that the end of prohibition was also a milestone event in the community.

Building up the Fire Department with all of the modern conveniences necessary for its functional operation has been Chief Simonsen's biggest and most-hoped-for ambition.

James Glenn Trains In German Maneuvers

GOPPINGEN, GERMANY—Army Pfc James E. Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Glenn, 900 Spafford St., Antioch, recently participated in a combined arms phase of the five-week 4th Armored Division field training exercises in the Grafenwahr-Hohenfels area in Germany.

The exercises stressed the ability of infantry, artillery, armor and logistical support units to work together under combat conditions. Training of this nature is designed to maintain a constant state of combat readiness essential to a modern Army deployed to maintain the defense of the free world.

Glenn is assigned to Headquarters Company of the Division's 68th Armor in Illersheim. He entered the Army in July 1960 and completed basic combat training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

The 24-year old soldier attended Antioch High School.

Grade School PTA Convenes

The Antioch Grade School PTA met March 19 in the school auditorium. The meeting started with an open discussion on previous meetings, with suggestions for changes or improvements being offered.

Norman Jedele, president of the school board, introduced the other members of the board to the parents.

PTA president Harrison Brown introduced the following, who are candidates for members of the board: Richard Eckert, Clarence Larson, Ernest Westlund (for re-election), Joseph Hellstern, Robert Sonnen and Ronald Polson. The latter three are from the Oakland school area. Each candidate gave a short, informal talk which was well received by those attending.

P. Tossey for publicity and historian.

The room count was won by Mrs. Ruth Baethke's first grade, with second honors going to Mrs. Loretta Hart's eighth grade.

Safety Program Backed by Clubs

Antioch Moose Lodge, Jr. Chamber of Commerce, and Lions Club have joined together in an Antioch area bicycle safety program.

In attendance at the committee meeting last Friday were William Vos representing the Lions Club, Donald Lubkeman representing the Jr. Chamber of Commerce, and the Moose Lodge's Civic Affairs Committee.

Police Commissioner Ray Toft and Chief of Police Walter Scott have offered their cooperation and support to the program.

Moose Lodge Civic Affairs chairman, Bob Avery said that some people have asked the question, "Why is there a need for a bicycle safety program?" The answer to this question is: 1. Three of every four youngsters (between the ages of six and fifteen) ride a bicycle. 2. More than 20,000,000 bicycles on American streets and highways (one bicycle for every 3 registered motor vehicles). 3. Every 19 minutes, day and night, a cyclist is injured. . . . 4. Every 21 hours, a cyclist is killed. . . . this includes only those cyclists who were struck by motor vehicles.

When it comes to taxes, most of us have become calloused to this misuse. FREEDOM ROLE

"From the beginning of this republic the teaching profession has been challenged to play a leading role in the struggle of our people to attain the ideals of freedom. All of our noblest statesmen have exalted the teacher and pressed for wider educational opportunities. They have recognized that ours is an experiment in a way of life that absolutely depends upon the enlightenment of the citizens, and that this requires excellent teachers at the very heart of this great experiment to preserve and enlarge human freedom."

"The freedom idea itself starts with the nature of human life. It comes forth on the hypothesis that the individual human being is created with unpredictable capacities for growth; and that a sufficient number can achieve mature responsibility to enable and induce them to live safely in a society with the minimum of restraint. Teachers are among the most important people in testing out this great hypothesis and in proving its validity."—Mt. Zion Region News.

Avoid Accidents

More than 700,000 accidents occur each year in home workshops across the country, and many of them can be prevented. To maintain a safe workshop, remember to: padlock power tools when not in use; keep floors free of dirt and oil; follow manufacturer's instructions when using tools; wear gloves when handling rough, abrasive equipment or harsh cleaners; leave them off around mobile tools; lock the door when the room is not in use and always keep toddlers out of the workshop; protect tools from rust by applying a light film of Vaseline petroleum jelly (heat the jelly slightly and dip the tools into the warm liquid or use a brush to paint it onto the tools); and see that you have a clean tube of petroleum jelly in the workshop at all times to use in first aid treatment for minor cuts and injuries.

Amusement Center May Rise in Antioch Area

A proposed amusement center or beach on vacant property on Grass Lake Road west of Grass Lake Bridge may cause the construction of a commercial hotel and beach in that area.

A rezoning petition, if approved by the Lake County Board of Supervisors on April 9, would allow the proposal to be enacted.

A Chicago owner of the property, Joseph Kijak, requested the Zoning Board of Appeals to rezone the property from R-4 to B-1 recently. The matter was referred to the Board of Supervisors for final action.

Edward C. Jacobs, village attorney for Antioch, is representing Kijak in his attempt to rezone the property. Jacobs stated that the proposed area is perfect for a family amusement center. He went on to say that if the petition is approved, no liquor will be sold at the beach.

The swimmers would not interfere with the boating or fishing. It was explained, since the beach would be located between Grass Lake and Fox Lake at a 200 foot channel. According to Jacobs, about 357 feet on Grass Lake would be covered by beach.

One Grass Lake homeowner, Kurt Pawlik testified at the hearing that he had no objection to the installation of the beach but that he feared the possibility of the area degenerating into a hangout for undesirable persons.

Bookmobile In Antioch

By Marian Harden

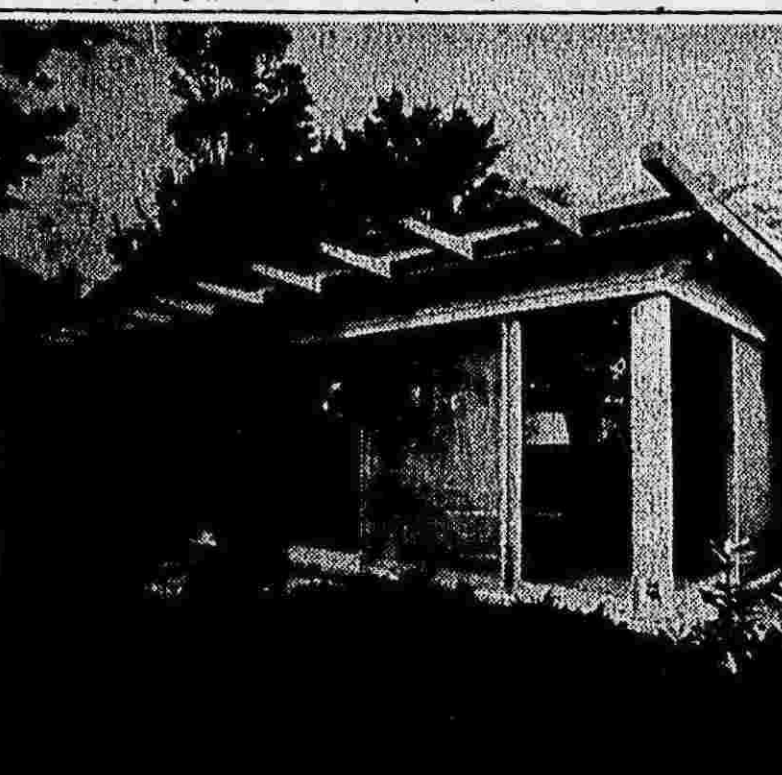

At the meeting of the Antioch Township Library Board held Wednesday, March 28, plans were made for the Antioch library to participate in the nationwide celebration of National Library Week. Mrs. Harden reported that Mrs. Frances Hanna of the Illinois State Library, who is advisor for this area, offered to send a bookmobile which will be open to the public. Since many library patrons have expressed interest in the bookmobile that makes periodic visits to the library, the Board Members decided this would be an excellent opportunity for adults and school children to see it. Mrs. Hanna promised that the bookmobile will be at the library parking lot from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday, Apr. 9.

Mr. Robert Wilton has kindly promised to lend the library his collection of historical materials about early Antioch. These will be on display inside the library building.

The plans also call for the presence of the library staff and board members to answer questions about the services the library offers.

Discussion of the library budget to be submitted to Town Meeting on April 9 and the payment of current bills completed the business meeting.

Give Trees New Life Through Pruning Tips

By Leland C. Smith

Apples are pruned for the purpose of training to forms that will result in least breakage and for later convenience of pruning, spraying, and picking. Pruning will also influence the size of the fruit and regulate the bearing of a tree. No two trees or orchards are alike, therefore, pruning requirements will be different.

Pruning is usually done during the dormant period or that time when the tree is without leaves.

Pruning is dwarfing in effect. Young unpruned trees make more total growth than pruned trees; therefore, it is beneficial to train young trees to their desired form as soon as possible.

then reduce it until corrective pruning becomes necessary. Pruning increases vigor of a tree. Probable reasons for increased vigor are: 1. Remaining limbs receive more of what is supplied to the shoots from food reserves in the tree. 2. Remaining limbs get more mineral nutrients at least until the root-top balance is restored. 3. Remaining limbs get more water until root-top balance is restored.

Corrective pruning to eliminate broken and diseased branches should be done yearly. Water sprouts or suckers should be removed except where one is left for renewal.

All major cuts should be done smoothly and as close to the trunk as possible. This encourages rapid healing. The most effective wound dressing is the water emulsion of asphalt, and they should only be used on cuts in excess of one to three inches.

The best pruning can be done with a sharp, fine-toothed saw and a sharp hand shears.

We will have a tough time selling our country to Africans and Indians and Chinese if we're not sold on it ourselves.

"It reminds me of two dogs I once had. When one of the mongrels came to the bank of a creek, fearing either discomfort or perhaps drowning, he would sit back on his haunches and howl—oh, such weeping and wailing. The other dog, without batting an eyelash, would plunge into the creek and continue the chase on the other side. It goes without saying which dog caught the most rabbits." — Port Neches, Texas.

Sequoit Track Team Prepares for Season

Antioch High School's Track Coach, Roger Andrews, has been highly optimistic as of late for his team this year.

With forty-nine boys reporting for spring track practice, he feels great potential in his squads in winning honors this year. The team is presently comprised of twelve upperclassmen and thirty-seven sophomores and freshmen.

Of the twelve upperclassmen participating in the events this year, seven are returning lettermen. The seven returning lettermen are Seniors: Fred Andrews, Bob Krieger, Bob Webster and Bud Dittman; Juniors: Richard Fowles, Richard Fitch and Dione Rathbone.

Other mainstays counted on this year for good performance are John Spiegler, Rolf Westberg, Al Gruidl, Dave White and Paul Erickson. Two sophomores, Ray Peterson and Greg Gates, are also expected to turn in fine seasonal performances.

Bob Webster, who established the school's record in the pole vault event last year with an 11.9 record, is expected to go better than 12 feet this year.

Coach Andrews stated that he expects Bud Dittman who established a 5'9" high jump last year to break the school record of 5'10".

Coming in with a strong mile relay team, Fred Andrews, Bob Krieger, Dione Rathbone and Ray Peterson, should also be in Andrews' favor.

The Antioch squad should be strong in the pole vault, 440 relays and high jump this year, it has been estimated.

Medium showings in the dashes and hurdles is expected and perhaps a prominent weakness in weights and distance events may materialize.

The first track meeting was held on March 7 and the first actual practice in good weather was March 12. The Sequoits were outside practicing for the first time last Wednesday.

Youths Tally High Games In Junior League Play

By Mrs. Pearl Kapell

Junior League Bowler Mike Sterbenz, who has been bowling only two years, turned in high game of 224 in the A.J.C.C. Mailographic Tournament held Saturday at the Antioch Bowl.

Another high scorer was lefty Mike Solar, with a 204 game. This is Solar's first year in league competition.

Twenty-five teams were entered in this year's competition at the Antioch Bowl. Only one team will receive trophies locally, with all scores mailed to and judged by the American Junior Bowling Congress. However, the competition is nation-wide, and any local team may be a winner in the national contest. The event is a handicap team competition.

High team in the Bantam Boys Division scored 1543 for two games. The team included Jerry Nosko, Steve Owens, Jeff Sterbenz, Bill Owens, and Curt Wachta.

High Junior team of boys scored 2582 for three games (nice bowling), rolled by Mike Sterbenz, Don Miller, Nell Taylor, Wayne Hansen and Bob Mozal.

High Senior Team of the boys turned in a 2780 for three games. (No Major Leaguer would be ashamed of that score.) The team was made up of Bill Couch, Mike Solar, Dan Hamelberg, John Jedele, and Ricky Ripley.

High team in the girls Bantam Division rolled 1434 for two games. The team included Sue Deltrick, Nicky Nissen, Carol Westlund, Glenna Burns and Carol Siliannoff.

High Junior Girls' team turned in a score of 2297 for three games. The team included Dolores Anderson, Linda Schneider, Mary Lasco, Pat Heath and JoAnn Bolton.

No team was entered in the Senior Girls' Division, because tournament rules required that there be at least three girls sixteen years of age on the team and the rule could not be met.

High individual scratch series in the girls' division was turned in by Barbara Casella with a 494. Nice Bowling, Barb!

More bowling bits: Curly Wertz finally broke that old 600 barrier in the Friday night Pin-spotter's league with a 607 series. Congratulations! And with the end of the season drawing mighty nigh, the race for first place in the Tuesday night GutterBall Girls is so close that every week is like playing fruit basket upset among the four top teams. Bill's Service, Jacques Pedersen's Bakery and Antioch State Bank are so close (with some other teams breathing down their necks) that first place is up for grabs with every game.

Male stars attending the clinic are Johnny King, a widely-publicized star, Frank Klaus, the well-known "Bowling Professor" and winner of $75,000 in awards and TV star Jerry Dutler.

Women stars: Olga Glone, an all-star champion from Chicago, and TV star Pat McBride will also make appearance at the Clinic.

Frosh - Soph Squad is Honored for Records

Carl Satterfield, Antioch high school freshman, led the Frosh-Soph squad in three departments and was voted the most valuable player award. It was announced last week.

In a report containing team statistics for the season, Satterfield led the team in total rebounds with 150, in total scoring with 244 points and also added 45 assists.

The B squad finished second in the conference tied with Grayslake and Wauconda. All three had 9 and 5 records. The Antioch team finished out with an overall 12 and 6 record.

Coach Andrews team lost two crucial games to first place Lake Forest by a total margin of 3 points. The second game ended 37-38 in an overtime.

In other individual honors, John Lear was voted team Captain, Rich Davis the most improved player and Dean Denman, "the Most Team Spirit."

The Sequoit Sophs scored 934 points this season for a 52 point per game average, while their opponents registered 767 for a 42.6 mark. Shooting 38.8% from the field to their foes' 32.8 per cent.

Last year's Salem Track team won the conference meet and the Salem Invitational, which gave them a 9-0 record for the season.

Coulson Recalls Manchurian Deals

Foreign affairs and world peace are the major issues facing the American people and the major issues in the campaign for the Republican nomination for the new 12th Congressional District seat, according to State Representative Robert Coulson, of Waukegan, one of the eight aspirants for the GOP nod.

Coulson, a former OSS agent and State Department representative in China and Manchuria at the end of World War II, has been stressing his concern for the foreign policy of the United States in recent talks before political rallies in Deerfield, Waukegan, and Barrington and in talks with individual voters and voters' groups who have been interviewing candidates.

"My concern with the foreign policy as set forth by our State Department goes back to the months after World War II when I was assigned to negotiate new Manchurian boundaries with Russian forces in that area," the veteran legislator asserted.

"I saw the seeds for World War III planted in those barren wastes as we were forced by State Department directive to retreat from established lines and ultimately surrender a sub-continent to the Chinese Reds while we turned our back on our Nationalist Chinese allies."

Recalling later service as a United Nations representative with UNRRA in Shanghai, Coulson said, "The utility of our foreign aid program which was directed to our former enemies instead of to our allies became apparent through first hand experience."

Rep. Coulson, who has attended Army Command schools in atomic and missile warfare, psychological warfare and civil defense, rejects the idea of a preventive war and prefers to work through the United Nations in an effort to preserve peace, but objects to some of the basic philosophies of the United Nations.

"We should strengthen the by-laws of the organization and make membership something you earn when you are ready to take your place in the community of nations and not something available to every new state that wants to join."

"Non-payment of dues, opposition to the aims and policies of the United Nations, and sabotaging of its efforts to maintain peace should be grounds for dismissal from the organization," Rep. Coulson maintains.

Coulson, who is serving his third term in the state House of Representatives, also served two terms as Mayor of Waukegan and was an assistant state's attorney before becoming a candidate.

Grant Performs Frothy Comedy

The Grant High School spring play, "Father of the Bride," slated for March 30 and 31 promises an evening of outstanding entertainment. The plot of the three-act comedy centers around the situations created when Mr.

Banks, played by Peter Sink, learns that his only daughter, Kay, played by Marilyn Nix and Toby Gurewitz, plan to marry.

The bride and groom, played by Steve France, agree on a simple wedding. As the guest list grows, complications multiply, tempers flare, the groom disappears, phones ring and a very amusing set of circumstances emerge.

In 1960 more than 3 million people in the United States suffered from the respiratory disease called asthma.

In the United States only 20 per cent of the disposable income goes for food.

The Supersonic Boom and Its Significance to Us

By Jay Nash

Those untimely and earwhipping booms heard by residents in the area lately can not be attributed to Martian invasions, the Russian underground or the end of the earth. The sounds are offshoots of military aircraft flying at supersonic speed.

The Air Force states that this "necessary nuisance" is presently caused only by military aircraft, but foresees the eventual use of civilian planes, traveling supersonically, on long flights, to cause the same sound effect.

The B-58, when first installed into the Air Force's routine usage, was the first plane to cause the sonic boom. Since then, the Tactical Air Command, the Civil Defense Command and various Navy units have planes that fly faster than the speed of sound with the resounding boom echoing after them.

Air Force officials go on to explain that in order to prepare for actual war conditions, flight crews of the speedy B-58's must assimilate defense against a probable enemy by flying training missions.

These, then, are the flights causing Americans today to become startled on the ground or to be roused from an average sleep by the thunder-clap-like noise.

Caused by shock waves built up around a supersonically flying aircraft, the sonic boom is formed into a series of sound waves which form a cone.

Planes travelling at 762 miles per hour at sea level are those usually responsible for creating the sonic boom. The waves produced by this sound stem from the nose of the plane similar to that of a boat's bow skimming through water. Travelling to the ground at the speed of sound, the shock waves follow after the airplane. When the sound waves slap against the surface of the earth, their sounds become audible. This pressure wave, which can be compared to that of water waves washing against the shore, is the same caused by a common thunderclap.

The atmospheric conditions prevalent during a plane's flight have a lot to do with the sonic sounds heard. Sometimes, as the B-58 actually drags the edges of the sound wave along its entire flight, the waves reach to several miles on either side of the airplane's path. At other times, atmospheric conditions may dissipate the shock waves before they reach the ground and the sonic boom is not heard at all.

The height of the plane's travel also affects the intensity of the sonic boom. A plane travelling at 40,000 feet will cause less of a sonic boom than one at 30,000 feet. At the present, airplanes are not authorized to travel below 35,000 feet when flying at supersonic speed.

Do Sonic Booms Cause Serious Damage?

Although provocative incidents have occurred as a result of the sonic boom, Air Force officials still claim that sonic booms cannot cause structural damage to any house or building. They have also stated that the sound can not directly cause individual injury to a person.

In support of this belief, the military states that it takes 70 or more pounds per square foot of pressure to damage a structure; 150 to 300 pounds per square foot to damage brick or frame buildings. The sonic boom consolidates a pressure of five pounds per square foot or roughly ten times the noise created by a thunderclap.

Up to the present time there is no record of any injury to a person as the result of the sonic boom.

However, all of the Air Force's precautions can not prevent some damage caused by the booms. Plate and window glass may be broken by sonic booms. Light bric-a-brac may be shaken or vibrated from shelves. Loosely-latched doors may be pushed open and damaged. Existing plaster cracks may be extended.

you have legitimate claim against the government for damages incurred as a result of a sonic boom, the Air Force asks you to contact the claims officer at the nearest Air Force Base and all possible assistance will be given to satisfy your claim.

Scientists have been working toward minimizing the annoying aspects of the sonic boom but have yet to come up with satisfying results.

However, the Air Force feels that tolerance of the boom is the best possible public reaction that can be reached. The operation of the supersonic planes, Air Force officials conclude, is a necessary thing in the entire makeup of our civil defense and the well being of our country. And it is considered to be somewhat less havoc-provoking than the crack of doom emitted from an alien atomic bomb.

The Red Cross' Big Job -- Serving Armed Forces

Serving the Armed Forces is the largest single job in the Red Cross program. It requires about 35 percent of each annual budget, more than $34,000,000 in 1961, and 55 percent of all volunteer and staff time.

Red Cross personnel assist servicemen wherever they may be. Assistance and guidance on financial, emergency and personal problems are offered to the serviceman and his family.

Hospitalized servicemen and veterans are in daily contact with Red Cross Gray Ladies who volunteer to endeavor to make life easier during their stay in the hospital. A Gray Lady from your area volunteering her time and serving at the Great Lakes Naval Hospital, Downey Veterans Hospital, Fort Sheridan Dispensary and the Lake County Home is Mrs. Earl Pitman of 1027 Victoria St.

Upon request, the Red Cross keeps families informed of hospitalized servicemen's condition and status. Families visiting hospitalized men are given assistance in arranging for transportation and accommodations.

Servicemen and their families need only ask for assistance from the Red Cross and every effort is made to help them solve any and all problems. Daily, dependents of servicemen call at the Lake County Chapter House in Waukegan with problems.

Although servicemen are the largest recipients of Red Cross aid, they are often heard to criticize the Red Cross. It is acknowledged that during World War II, with the vast number of personnel working with the Red Cross that some unsanctioned practices did occur such as the selling of cigarettes and doughnuts. The Red Cross does not deny that such things could have happened, but neither does it condone such happenings.

Wherever Red Cross services are performed by the Red Cross for service men the following sign is required to be displayed: "Assistance given to you or your family is provided for by voluntary contributions from the American people. Red Cross services and supplies for members of the Armed Forces are not sold. If anyone asks you to pay for any of these services or supplies please report the facts to your commanding officer or the nearest Red Cross office."

Servicemen have been heard to say that the Red Cross would not give them an emergency leave. Although the Red Cross does supply information to commanding officers concerning conditions at home, the Red Cross in no way can approve or disapprove a leave. Families of servicemen should contact the Red Cross where it is felt that a serviceman is needed at home, this saves time, and all communications will be handled by the Red Cross.

With the Great Lakes Naval Training Center with its Naval Hospital, Fort Sheridan and other service installations in Lake County, the National organization of the American Red Cross dispenses more money, in the way of assistance and services in Lake County than is donated by Lake Countians in the annual fund drive.

Channel Lake News

By Mrs. Pearl Kapell

"The Accidental Hero" is the title of a play to be staged by the Channel Lake P.T.A. on April 13 and 14. The play will be presented in the gym of the school, and proceeds will help to pay for the new stage curtains. The cast includes adults and members of the eighth grade at the school, and Mrs. Grace Amendola is directing the production. Mrs. Mary Bierman, P.T.A. president, says the theme of the play is timely—it's concerned with school board election.

The Channel Lake P.T.A. put on a distinctly different style show at its regular meeting on Wednesday, March 21. Designers of the costumes took descriptions literally, and if the results weren't beautiful, they were entertaining. A spring suit was a suit festooned with bed springs. Due to faulty pronunciation on someone's part, a bridal gown (a wedding dress) was made up of diapers. A slip-over sweater with self belt was just that—a slip over a sweater with the arms of the model making the belt. Elmer Melendick, resplendent in top hat and tails, wore a nondescript hat with a child's top on the crown, and walking shorts decorated with fur tails.

The business portion of the P.T.A. included election of officers. New officers are: Don Hartman, president; Evelyn Caldwell, vice pres.; Ellen Stankus, secretary; and Beverly Roberts, treasurer. Parliamentarian is Myrna Jungman and Historian Lucile Eberman. The new officers will be installed at the May meeting and begin their term of office in September.

Tentative plans for next month's P.T.A. meeting are concerned with the desirability and practicality of the formation of a music department in the school.

Von Ceil Woolner is a patient at St. Therese Hospital; Marilyn Edwards is a patient at Victory Memorial Hospital. Fred Chase, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chase, is back home after spending several days in Victory Memorial hospital with acute croup. Diane Runyard, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Runyard, is home and doing well after major surgery.

Catherine Chase, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Chase, had a double celebration on her birthday, March 11. She had a party for her young friends in the afternoon, and shared the evening with the farewell party for her uncle, SP4 John Deegan of the National Guards. John returned to his base at Fort Lewis, Wash. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Prange of Carlinville spent the weekend at the home of Mrs. Prange's mother, Mrs. David Stratton of Antioch.

Book Review

By Marian Harden

Two excellent collections of fairy tales have been given to the library in memory of Mrs. Bertha Larson. "Favorite Fairy Tales Told in Norway" contains, among other old favorites, "The Princess on the Glass Hill" and "Why the Sea Is Salt." "Favorite Fairy Tales Told in Ireland" retells such tales as "Patrick O'Donnell and the Leprechaun" and "Billy Beg and the Bull." Virginia Haviland has selected and retold these stories with a verve that retains the flavor of the old tales but is not too difficult for the eight-year-old to read.

"A Child's Life of Mary Baker" led their son, Pete, at Blackburn College in Carlinville, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Woolner are the parents of a boy, Michael, born Feb. 23 in San Francisco. Jack is stationed at the Hamilton Air Force Base there. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Woolner of Channel Lake, and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rodney.

Bud and Beverly Roberts are the parents of a little girl, Kimberly Sue, born March 22 in Victory Memorial hospital. Kimberly weighed six pounds, one ounce, at birth.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chase returned last Monday from two months vacation in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Runyard and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dowell returned Sunday from a two week motor trip to the west. They visited friends and relatives in California and New Mexico, and visited many tourist attractions along the way.

Marie Hucker celebrated her birthday on March 25.

Ah, the sun is shining and the birds are singing and suddenly it's Spring! Smart birds! Why shouldn't they sing? They don't have to worry about income tax—or Easter outfits—or the payments on the mortgage. So maybe humans aren't so smart. Though I wonder if I'd ever prefer worms to steak. And if we were all robins, I suppose it wouldn't be long before Mama Robin would decide she had to have her feathers dyed the color of Mrs. Cardinal's. And Papa Robin would have to dig more worms to pay off the leather dyer. And then some smart Papa Robin would get to worrying for fear the blackbirds would fly to the moon before the robins did, and he'd organize all the Papa Robins, and they'd all have to put in extra hours hunting worms to finance the trip. And when some of them got tired, or had a bad day for finding worms, some energetic bird who's found a real juicy spot for worms, would come along and loan them enough worms to make up their quota, with the understanding that they'd pay him back double tomorrow. And boom, right back to civilization! I wonder if people really do have more fun than anybody?

Johnny Kleffner placed first and Tom Nadelhoffer second. The judges did not know who made which car until after their decisions were made. The names of the contestants were written on a paper under the car. They were sorry they were unable to award trophies to every boy in the contest. (The boys will not know who the winners are until they read this column.) The trophies will be awarded to the boys at their April 3 meeting. The awards were purchased with Club funds.

Ron Coles talked to the boys about rifles. Most of the boys are also members of the Junior NRA Club. Bill Bernau showed the different positions the boys have been taught to shoot from. Other boys named the different parts of a gun. As always, Ron emphasized that guns are not toys, and are dangerous and must always be treated as though they were loaded, even though they believe it to be not loaded.

They were told to keep their bicycles away from the doors of the Piggly Wiggly and to ask children running around in the store not to run.

National Retailers in State Boost Ill. Tax by Millions

SPRINGFIELD, Mar. 8—Attorney General William G. Clark today hailed as a boon to Illinois' heavily burdened state treasury the many million of dollars to be collected annually by the state under a new court decision fought for and won by his office.

The decision, handed down by a three-judge federal court March 7, held that the State of Illinois can legally levy its sales tax on proceeds of goods sold by Illinois retailers and contractors to the federal government. In the original hearing of this case—U. S. and Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation vs. Illinois Department of Revenue—all parties stipulated that in addition to the Mathieson corporation there are over 1440 persons or firms in Illinois engaged in sales to the Department of Defense, including the Army, Navy and Air Force which have government contracts in excess of $23,655,000. The Mathieson company manufactures aircraft parts in its East Alton plant.

The case was filed in March 1960 by the government and the Mathieson company against the State of Illinois. It was contended that the sales tax violated the constitutional ban against taxation of the federal government by a state. A three-judge federal court in February, 1961 held the tax unconstitutional because it was discriminatory in exempting the State of Illinois and its municipal governments and charities but not the federal government. This statute was held unconstitutional by the Illinois Supreme Court. Later the general assembly amended the statute to eliminate all exemptions except as to sales made for charitable, education and religious purposes.

Attorney General Clark appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court to stay the injunction granted in February, 1961, to halt collection of the sales tax from firms doing business with the federal government. This injunction was then vacated. The Supreme Court sent the case back to a three-judge federal court for a review because of the changes made in the statute and on the basis of other court decisions. The new decision of March 7 followed.

"I consider this an outstanding victory and one of great importance to Illinois taxpayers," Clark said. "If yesterday's decision does not bring this case to a close, my office will carry on the fight for a final victory.

Residents Participate In Red Cross Program

Although not registered as an institution of high learning, your Red Cross is in the business of training you and your neighbors in a variety of subjects.

The Red Cross' First Aid, Water Safety, Home Nursing, Mother and Baby Care courses have trained millions of Americans to better meet the obligations of daily living.

In Lake County more than 30,000 Red Cross swim certificates were issued last year. Swimming pools throughout the county, manned by Red Cross trained personnel, participate in the Red Cross swim program.

Red Cross qualified personnel, trained as instructors in Water Safety from your area are: Sherry Davis, Rt. 2, Box 83, Sue Duffa, Rt. 2, Box 81 in Lake Bluff (Phone 395-2799), Charlotte Queen, Rt. 1, Box 309 (Phone 395-2689).

During 1961 24,270 Lake County residents qualified as instructors. Qualified Red Cross First Aid instructors in your area are: Daniel Dugenske, 329 Harden St. (Phone 395-0566), Arthur Price, Rt. 2, Box 24, Mrs. Wm. Watts, Box 682 and Warren Polley at 998 Osmond Ave.

The Red Cross' Mother and Baby Care courses, taught at hospitals and schools throughout the county last year instructed 139 prospective parents in the care and feeding of the newborn.

All Red Cross courses, as are all Red Cross services, are without charge. With the possible exception of purchasing a book concerning the subject, every Lake Countyman can avail themselves of all Red Cross courses. If you as an individual, or a group from your school, church, social club, or where you work wish to take any Red Cross course, you have but to contact your Lake County Red Cross, ON 2-4044.

The Red Cross is service, service to those in need. President Kennedy in announcing his support of the Red Cross for 1962, said:

"The Red Cross is perhaps the most recognized and most welcome symbol in all the world."

"It is the symbol of unflinching vigor and unflinching help in the time of human need. It is a symbol of man's abiding concern for all his brothers."

"Whenever the world is beset by war, disease or disaster, the Red Cross moves with a mercy from which all men may draw comfort."

"Let us pledge now to keep Red Cross strong, so that it may continue this tradition of mercy."

On April 16, the important but little known Army Medical Specialist Corps marks its 15th anniversary. Its members, all commissioned officers, are graduate dietitians, occupational therapists, and physical therapists dedicated to maintaining the good health and welfare of men and women in the U. S. Army. They serve under the Surgeon General.

Members of the corps are assigned to the U. S. Army hospitals in the United States & overseas. Dietitians provide for nutritional and dietary needs of patients, and administer hospital food service. Physical and occupational therapists use specialized skill and techniques to aid in patient recovery.

At present, there are openings in the corps for qualified men and women dietitians and occupational therapists only. They afford exceptional opportunities in graduate education and research.

For college women only, studying toward a degree in dietetics or occupational therapy, there are financial assistance programs. Grants are made on the premise that participants will serve in the Army Medical Specialist Corps after graduation.

Selective Service Test Opens to College Youth

Applications for the Selective Service Qualification Test to be given on April 17 are now available to college students at Selective Service local boards throughout Illinois. Willard A. Manning, State Director, announced today. Applications must be postmarked not later than March 27.

Scores made on the test will provide local boards with evidence of aptitude for continued undergraduate and graduate study. The scores alone will not determine eligibility for deferment but are considered with other information by the boards in determining whether to defer individuals for further study.

To be eligible to take the test an applicant must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course, undergraduate or graduate, leading to a degree. He need not be a student of a four-year college but his entire course of study must be satisfactory for transfer of credits to a degree-granting institution. He must also intend to seek deferment as a student. He can take the test only once.

"At the present time Illinois local boards reach men for induction at about age 23," the State Director said. "Students generally can finish their undergraduate studies by that age. But those hoping to continue in graduate school may need a deferment to do so. Also heavier draft calls would lower the age at which local boards reach men for induction, and are advised to take the test."

Conference Held Sunday

Father David Lynch, pastor of Prince of Peace Church held a Cana Conference on the Parent-Teenage relationship at the Parish Hall on Sunday, March 25, at 12:45 p.m.

"Many of the problems associated with teenagers come from a lack of understanding of the stresses—physical and emotional—that young people experience in adolescence," said Father Lynch. "Teenagers need special understanding, but they are not a privileged class. They also need authority, guidance and discipline." Father Lynch continued. "Knowing when to allow, when to prohibit, when to supervise, when to trust—this is the mark of the successful parent."

All of these points plus 20 others on allowances, work outside the home, dating, curfew, the crowd, school work, etc., were discussed at the Cana Conference conducted by a priest specially qualified by years of experience with youth work.

The conference was informal—a luncheon was served and all questions were answered.

Easter Seal Campaigning is Stepped up in Lake County

A quarterly-wide mailing of 19,000 letters asking for contributions to the 1962 Easter Seal Campaign in Lake County went out this week, according to Lou Durkin, Easter Seal Campaign Chairman.

The mailing will supplement the door-to-door effort to be made by an army of more than 1,000 volunteer solicitors on Sunday, April 1, Durkin said.

"Every effort has been made to avoid duplication of mailing and door-to-door solicitation," the chairman explained, but there will probably be some people who receive a letter for contributions and then are contacted in person.

The volunteer workers have been instructed to extend our apologies to those who have been contacted by mail and to pick up the mail contribution if it has not already been mailed to the office, Durkin said.

The goal of the 1962 campaign in Lake County is $25,000, of which more than $20,000 will remain in Lake County for the operation of the Lake County Center for Rehabilitation at 709 North Ave., Waukegan.

In urging a generous response to the fund appeal Durkin said, "The Lake County Easter Seal Society is one of the few health agencies raising money in Lake County which maintains a treatment center here and provides treatment for the crippled children and adults in Lake County."

"Last year well over 100 treatments were provided at the Rehabilitation Center for victims of cerebral palsy, birth defects, strokes, and other diseases which cause crippling and disability," Durkin pointed out.

In addition to the operation of the Rehabilitation Center the Lake County Easter Seal Society also provides a matron to assist the teachers in the Special Education Class at Spaulding School.
